

HOUSE ESCAPES A CALL OF ROLL

Works for an Hour with Less Than a Quorum in Attendance.

COOK SPRINGS A SURPRISE

Brings Up the Federal Income Tax Amendment—Plans for Office Building Please
the Committee.

Montpelier, Jan. 28.—There were 117 members in their seats during the House session yesterday morning, less than a quorum, but fortunately for those who remained here no call of the House was demanded. When a motion was made to order a bill to the Mr. Cook of Lyndon said that while he should regret to call for the yeas and nays, no bill should be ordered to lie without it, that the record of the House should show progress or the lack of it, and not postponement and delay. The House remained in session a little more than an hour and adjourned at a considerable amount of unimportant business.

While there is a feeling among the members, both of the House and Senate, that adjournment should be taken as early as possible, there is still no disposition to hurry matters, and a serious resolution that the work on hand cannot be disposed of in any short time. The statement that there are 200 bills to be disposed of does not tell the whole story for the bills that have been ordered to lie are not included in this number. There are 181 bills that have not yet been acted upon by the House in which they originated. New bills come in every day, and the date of final adjournment cannot be predicted now with any reasonable accuracy.

Mr. Cook of Lyndon sprung a surprise yesterday morning by calling up the federal income tax amendment. Mr. Cook said that he did this for a two-fold reason, that it might appear that the House had worked honestly and sincerely for an hour, and that he might bring this matter before the members for proper consideration.

BETTER TO TAX INCOMES

Mr. Cook believed in an income tax, both by the United States and the State of Vermont. He had tried to induce the members of the committee on ways and means to realize the desirability of such action but they had not responded in the manner he desired. They had considered putting the knife into certain corporations in their effort to provide means for raising the revenue the State would need, but he believed it would be better to impose a tax on the income of men who could well afford to pay one and let the corporations alone for a little while.

Mr. Miller of Bethel did not think an income tax would be feasible in this State, as it would tend to keep out the wealthy men we desire to have come here. He referred to Mr. Weeks, chairman of the ways and means committee, as the spokesman of the Republican party. He remarked on the absence of Mr. Billings of Woodstock, the custodian of the Republican party platform, and said that whenever the members from Woodstock quoted the platform the result was martial. He referred to the new political party which was anxiously watching the leaders of the old parties in the hope that they might make some bad mistakes and play into the hands of the progressives, and thought this was the time for the old parties to act in the interests of the people.

OFFICE BUILDING PLANS

The commission considering the need of more room at the State House expects to be able to make a final report this week. The plans that have been submitted by the New York architect employed by them are very pleasing to those who have examined them, and form a good basis for the work of the commission.

The plans provide for a building 160 by 110 feet, five stories in height, built of Vermont granite and finished inside with Vermont marble and native woods. There is to be an entrance on State street and the main front of the building will be on the northwest side, at right angles with the main axis of the State House.

NO ESTIMATE OF COST

These plans are merely for the use of the committee in formulating its report, and do not indicate what will be proposed or erected if a new building shall be authorized by the Legislature. It was necessary for the commission to have the services of an architect to show what might be done either in the way of extending the present building or erecting a new one. It is not expected that the report will make any special recommendation in reference to this plan, but the technical work of the architect has shown the commissionmen what may be done and will enable them to make an intelligent and comprehensive report.

No estimate of cost accompanies these tentative plans, for the reason that cost cannot be figured until the dimensions and arrangement of the building have been finally determined and the kind of material to be used has been decided upon.

OFFICIAL RECORD OF DAY HOUSE—MORNING.

The House was called to order by the speaker and devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. George S. Smith, the member from Worcester.

THIRD READING ORDERED.

S. 6.—An act to appropriate money for the State school of agriculture. (Amended appropriating $25,000 for erection of a dormitory and for other purposes, in lieu of $30,000 in original bill.)

H. 527.—Changing the name of the Bethel Telephone and Telegraph company.

H. 529.—Authorizing the city of St. Albans to issue bonds.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

H. 527.—From committee on ways and means, relating to the taxation of telephone companies, substitute for H. 411. Ordered to lie and be printed.

H. 538.—From the committee on ways and means, amending section 734 and 735 of the public statutes, relating to taxation of telegraph companies, substitute for H. 361, assessed at rate of 45 cents per mile of poles, and one line of wire, and 55 cents per mile for each additional wire owned, or may pay 14 per cent. of entire gross earnings. Ordered to lie and be printed.

H. 539.—From committee on agriculture, enabling towns to appropriate money for county agricultural extension works. Towns may appropriate money pro rate on grand list. Ordered to lie and be printed.

THIRD READING ORDERED.

H. 530.—Relating to an act amending the charter of the village of Bellows Falls.

BILL KILLED.

H. 502.—Relating to the employment of women and minors in mechanical, manufacturing and mercantile establishments.

THIRD READING ORDERED.

H. 530.—Relating to an act amending the charter of the village of Bellows Falls.

SENATE AMENDMENTS CONCURRED IN.

RECOMMENDED TO THE COMMITTEE.

H. 377.—Relating to the Western Vermont Power & Light company called up by Mr. Cook of Lyndon.

INCOME TAX AMENDMENT.

Joint resolution relating to proposed federal income tax amendment to constitution called up by Mr. Cook of Lyndon. Mr. Cook believed the United States should be given the right to tax incomes and that the State also should have the same right which he considered a proper way to increase Vermont's revenue.

Mr. Miller of Bethel dismissed the political bearings of the resolution. He did not think a State income tax would be feasible as it would tend to keep rich men out of the State. He thought men out of the State. He thought men out of the State.

Mr. Ryder of Rockingham thought there was little if any disposition on the part of members to play politics, and that the measure should be considered as relating to the best interests of Vermont and the United States.

On motion of Mr. Strong of Hyde Park, the House adjourned at 11:35 o'clock.

REV. J. K. FULLER COMMITTS SUICIDE

III Health and Melancholia of Beloved Johnson Clergyman Caused Self-Destruction.

Johnson, Jan. 28.—The Rev. J. K. Fuller was found dead at seven o'clock this morning, having committed suicide by shooting himself in the head, the bullet of a .33-caliber revolver entering the left temple, passing through the brain and out at the right temple. Death must have been instantaneous. His wife discovered the body on the kitchen floor, and was rendered unconscious by the shock.

Mr. Fuller resigned the pastorate of the Congregational Church in September, because of poor health. He had since been very feeble, suffering from neurasthenia and complications, and also from the effects of a sunstroke last summer. He had been subject to severe attacks of melancholia, at which times he was temporarily deranged. It must have been during one of these that the suicidal impulse seized him. Recently he had been ill with the grip. Mrs. Fuller had been attending him nearly all night and at five o'clock left him in his bedroom on the first floor to go upstairs for a little rest. She heard shortly afterwards a noise, but upon receiving no response to her call concluded there was nothing wrong, and it was not until she descended at seven that she made the tragic discovery.

Mr. Fuller was beloved by the church and the community. He was about 50 years of age and besides his wife, who was Miss Gertrude Smith of Richmond, he survived by three sons, the youngest of whom, Robert, lives at home. J. H. Fuller is principal of the Brandon high school and his third son, Raymond G. Fuller, is with the Boston Transcript.

Mr. Fuller had held pastorates at Burton, Bakersfield and the Old South Church at Windsor, and was also chaplain at the State prison at Windsor. He was active in the establishment of Brigham Academy, and for six of the 12 years of his pastorate at Bakersfield he was superintendent of schools. In recognition of his work he was made a life member of the General Theological Library of Boston.

MUST CHANGE POSTOFFICES

More Space Needed in New Buildings for Parcel Post Business.

Washington, Jan. 28.—To provide adequate space for necessary to revise plans of many public buildings in which post-offices are located, and negotiations to this end already have been instituted by Postmaster-General Hitchcock.

At present 154 public buildings are under contract and 23 additional have been appropriated for by Congress. They approximate in cost $50,000,000. The plans for these buildings have been prepared without regard for the needs of the parcel post system and it now is essential that changes be made in their construction in order that the increased volume of mail may be handled advantageously.

HEARS RAG TIME AND KILLS WIFE

Bullet Ends Life of Walter Robinson—Young Couple Formerly Lived in Burlington.

New York, Jan. 28.—Marion Robinson knelt in front of her husband yesterday afternoon and begged him not to kill her, but in answer he fired five shots at her. She died an hour later. Immediately after he shot his wife Walter Robinson ran upstairs and killed himself with the same revolver. The man was maddened by jealousy.

The double killing, which occurred at No. 409 Park avenue, the Bronx, threw the house into pandemonium and the neighborhood into a state of tense excitement. A large crowd surrounded the little frame dwelling, and a cordon of policemen was formed in order to keep back the curiosity seekers.

It was unusual for Robinson, who was an electrician, to stay away from his work, as he did yesterday, but he told his father-in-law, J. W. Johnson, with whom he lived, that he had "fixed it" with the boys in the shop. So he remained about the house during the morning, and incidentally had a quarrel with his wife. They were not on particularly good terms and had had several heated arguments during the last month, the man usually being the aggressor.

LISTENED TO RAG TIME TUNES.

He sat in the dining room about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, humming and whistling the rag time tunes Mrs. Bertha Winfield, a neighbor, was playing in the parlor for the benefit of his wife, his 15-year-old sister-in-law, Florence, and his brother, John, three years younger.

Suddenly Robinson parted the portiers and walked into the parlor. "Marion!" he said loudly, and Mrs. Winfield stopped playing. "I want you to come out of this house right away. We aren't going to stay here any longer."

"Why would you say that?" asked his wife. "My father and mother are here, and I'm hungry."

Her voice trailed off into a whisper, as she saw Robinson take a revolver from his pocket, and point it at her head. She slipped out of the chair, on her knees, while her brother and sister stood like stone statues. Mrs. Winfield fled.

"My God, Walter, don't do that!" the woman yelled, as he pushed the revolver toward her.

He fired quickly, five times. Three of the bullets took effect, one in Mrs. Robinson's right lung, one in her stomach and one in her side. She crumpled up in a heap. As she fell Johnny Johnson, the 12-year-old lad, leaped at Robinson and grappled for the revolver. The boy played a desperate card but he gained the weapon.

Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Robinson's mother, ran into the room just then. Four weeks ago she buried her mother, and the children she contracted in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

VERMONT NOTES.

Mrs. Glenn Lathrop of Ripton has suddenly recovered from speech after three weeks of inability to talk.

Turns day was elaborately observed Friday by the South club of St. Johnsbury with a large banquet.

Crowds and fireworks are banding on the lawn of Dr. Ray E. Smith of Rutland. The balls usually blossom out of doors at Easter time.

H. W. Scott of Barre has been elected president of the Vermont Country Association. The next exhibition is to be held January 28, 29 and 30, 1914.

There are about 60 cases of measles in Rutland, but none is severe. The number is larger than in some years.

A handsome white marble monument has been erected in the old cemetery at Burlington in memory of Charles C. Jones, who went down with the Titanic.

The factory of Butterfield & Co. of Derby Line, manufacturing tires and dies, has been purchased by the Union Trust Drill company of Alton, Mass.

The 15th annual winter meeting of the Vermont Boatmen's club will be held at St. Johnsbury Friday and Saturday.

The sixth annual banquet of the Rutland County Fish and Game League will be held at Rutland January 30. Tickets are to be limited to 200 in number.

Mrs. Redford Proctor has paid more than $600 to the Vermont Sanatorium at Pittsford, the sum being the deficit in the year's expenses. Mrs. Proctor has made good the deficit for some years.

The new railroad between Northfield and South Vermont is to be opened this week by the train of the New York New Haven & Hartford road and other officials.

Augustus A. Herbert, a veteran of the Civil War, died at his home at Brattleboro Friday. He resided with C. H. Smith, Vermont at Wallingford and served two years.

Despite every effort to trace he has been found of George White or Warner, who escaped from the Benninghouse Retreat several weeks ago. It is expected that his body will be found in the woods in the vicinity of Chesterfield.

Joseph Weir of Bellows Falls, who drank a dose of wood alcohol by mistake, is recovering. The prompt efforts of a physician saved him.

Mrs. Frank T. McGovern of Hardwick has received first prize for declining a sum of money for a New York book. She had offered three cash prizes.

Two-year-old Daniel Hoffman of Reading was badly scalded when in reaching for a puff he spilled hot lard on his neck and shoulders.

During the past year the city of Barre paid out $210,693.87. The total fire loss of the city was $15,326. The loss was covered by insurance of $15,173.

VERMONT GETTING WELL ADVERTISED

Governor Fletcher Tells Boston Association Legislature Is More and More Like Circus.

Boston, Jan. 28.—More than 150 members and guests of the Vermont Association of Boston gathered at the Somerset last evening at its 21st annual dinner. Governor Allen M. Fletcher and Congressman Frank Plimley of Vermont were special guests and speakers. Governor Foss, a native of Vermont, sent a letter to President Charles H. Bradley, saying he was very sorry he couldn't attend, but wishing the association good luck for another year.

Seated at the head table, beneath three big flags, were also Col. W. W. Brown of Governor Fletcher's staff, ex-President Nelson L. Sheldon and Isaiah R. Clark, Vice-President Harvey King, Secretary Elmer E. Silver, the Rev. James H. Hodson, the chaplain, and Charles H. Spooner, president of Norwich University.

Among the other guests were Mrs. Allen M. Fletcher, Miss F. R. Fletcher and Harry R. Stone, president of the Daughters of Vermont.

Previous to the dinner there was a reception, when the members met Governor and Mrs. Fletcher personally. In the line with President and Mrs. Bradley and Governor and Mrs. Fletcher were Colonel Brown, Miss Woodson, Vice-President and Mrs. King.

Flying from each table was the green banner of the association, while on the balcony facing the head table "Vermont" was spelled out in mammoth letters of gold on a dark green background. Parties delivering was the musical program, under direction of John Almon, a member of the association.

President Bradley, before introducing the two speakers, briefly traced the progress of the Vermont Association of Boston, which he said starts another year on a sadder basis than ever before.

Gov. Fletcher, who was one of those who had sent letters of regret that they could not attend.

"There is very little for a Vermont Governor to do in backing in the times," declared Governor Fletcher, after the cheers with which he was greeted had quieted. Then he told some of his experiences at the conference of Governors, from which he had just come.

"The Vermont Legislature is getting more and more like a circus," he went on. "Now it has a publicity department, and the Green Mountain State is getting pretty well advertised. This year $25,000 is to be spent for good roads. Ten years ago anyone suggesting such a policy would have been thought a candidate for a mental institution."

"The State's revenue has doubled in a decade," declared Governor Fletcher, "and it is all going into the upbuilding of Vermont. When Massachusetts people have made all the money they need they should come up to Vermont, we will take care of them."

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

VERMONT GETTING WELL ADVERTISED

Governor Fletcher Tells Boston Association Legislature Is More and More Like Circus.

Boston, Jan. 28.—More than 150 members and guests of the Vermont Association of Boston gathered at the Somerset last evening at its 21st annual dinner. Governor Allen M. Fletcher and Congressman Frank Plimley of Vermont were special guests and speakers. Governor Foss, a native of Vermont, sent a letter to President Charles H. Bradley, saying he was very sorry he couldn't attend, but wishing the association good luck for another year.

Seated at the head table, beneath three big flags, were also Col. W. W. Brown of Governor Fletcher's staff, ex-President Nelson L. Sheldon and Isaiah R. Clark, Vice-President Harvey King, Secretary Elmer E. Silver, the Rev. James H. Hodson, the chaplain, and Charles H. Spooner, president of Norwich University.

Among the other guests were Mrs. Allen M. Fletcher, Miss F. R. Fletcher and Harry R. Stone, president of the Daughters of Vermont.

Previous to the dinner there was a reception, when the members met Governor and Mrs. Fletcher personally. In the line with President and Mrs. Bradley and Governor and Mrs. Fletcher were Colonel Brown, Miss Woodson, Vice-President and Mrs. King.

Flying from each table was the green banner of the association, while on the balcony facing the head table "Vermont" was spelled out in mammoth letters of gold on a dark green background. Parties delivering was the musical program, under direction of John Almon, a member of the association.

President Bradley, before introducing the two speakers, briefly traced the progress of the Vermont Association of Boston, which he said starts another year on a sadder basis than ever before.

Gov. Fletcher, who was one of those who had sent letters of regret that they could not attend.

"There is very little for a Vermont Governor to do in backing in the times," declared Governor Fletcher, after the cheers with which he was greeted had quieted. Then he told some of his experiences at the conference of Governors, from which he had just come.

"The Vermont Legislature is getting more and more like a circus," he went on. "Now it has a publicity department, and the Green Mountain State is getting pretty well advertised. This year $25,000 is to be spent for good roads. Ten years ago anyone suggesting such a policy would have been thought a candidate for a mental institution."

"The State's revenue has doubled in a decade," declared Governor Fletcher, "and it is all going into the upbuilding of Vermont. When Massachusetts people have made all the money they need they should come up to Vermont, we will take care of them."

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was a New York man, but at the time was employed by the Hiram Lumber company.

Mrs. Robinson was not contented in Burlington, and about two months ago the young couple went to New York. Presumably they were in the city when Mr. Robinson was a moving picture machine at the old Bijou.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in the city April 15, 1912, by the Rev. J. S. Braker. Mrs. Robinson was Marion Pose Johnson of New York city. Mr. Robinson was